

All Breeds & Disciplines

Canadian Horse

JOURNAL

Wild Deuce Retreats and Outfitting

- CONTRIBUTED

Ladies, when is the last time you took time for yourself? When was the last time it was so quiet that you could hear yourself think?

Wild Deuce Retreats and Outfitting is located in the Alberta Rockies, and is owned and operated by two women, Teri and Brenda. They want to be known worldwide as those girls who ride their horses bridleless in the mountains and who can get horses to do things you may have thought was not possible. These two women consider their business a passion, not just a job, and clients come back because of their passion. A wilderness pack trip can "wow" you the first time, the second time, and still wow you the hundredth time.

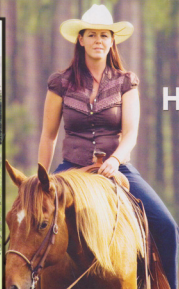

The women's retreat ride is the only trip offered by Wild Deuce that does not allow the vacationer to lift a finger. Everything is done for you. You wake to the smell of breakfast cooking and make the decision to roll over and catch some more sleep or get up for a cup of fresh coffee. Your choice. You don't have to pack your own gear, you don't have to cook, clean, plan, or schedule anything. There will not be any cell phones ringing or any computers begging for your business input. You'll hear sounds of the river flowing, a fire crackling, birds singing, and your own laughter as you relax in the nature-rich, peaceful surroundings. You may even get into a conversation about empowering, reflective topics that only women could enjoy.

Wild Deuce Retreats and Outfitting offers specialized retreat rides just for women.

For more information, visit www.wilddeuce.com.

Holidays on Horseback

Diamonds are a Camper's Best Friend

Backcountry Calling? Plan Your Escape